

A titillating, intriguing, & hugely enjoyable account of the papacy & papal culinary tastes, seen through the often secret recipes of the Popes storied kitchens, from St. Peter himself to the present pontiff. Italian social historians Mariangela Rinaldi & Mariangela Vicini here give us a fascinating history of the papacy, while at the same time providing recipes which offer a vivid & colorful fresco of food in Italy & Europe, from the origins of papal Rome to the present day. The authors reveal not only the culinary secrets of the papal kitchens but offer many of the favorite recipes with which the Holy Fathers regaled themselves. The recipes, ranging from the plain & the classic to the wildly eccentric, are for the most part extremely easy to follow.
