

Economic competitiveness depends on having the smartest workforce possible. Organisations who want to survive and grow need to be open to new ways of uncovering and developing their employees abilities. Profiting from Multiple Intelligences in the Workplace turns Howard Gardners revolutionary theory of multiple intelligences into user-friendly tools for understanding and assessing success in everyone from CEOs to cleaners. It provides a complete system for: The examination of staff needs; Matching applicants and job specifications; Successful interviewing and induction; Effective supervision; Focused training and development; The results not only allow the identification of individual abilities but also uncover the mosaic of abilities needed for multiskilling, multitasking and efficient teamwork.
